

December Spin a long 2019

Well another year has nearly gone, I hope you have all made all the things you wanted to. I expect, like me, you have been adding to your stash with all the things you know you need, or think you need.

Our next meeting on the 14th December will be our Christmas party. We will be having food as usual, please can you all bring something for the shared meal. It would also be useful to label what you bring if it isn't obvious, to help those with allergies. As well as food please bring a 8cup, a glass, a plate for savoury and a plate or bowl for the sweets, also a knife, fork and spoon. I look forward to our usual splendid array of temptations.

We will be having a hands on session making Christmas tree ornaments from felt. We will provide the felt, patterns, tracing paper, embroidery floss, string/ribbon for hanging. Please could you bring a simple sewing kit including scissors for paper and felt, and any embellishments , sequins etc, plus a small amount of clean fleece. There will be prizes for these. Below is a photo of what you will be making.

Last month some members enjoyed making buttons with fimo clay. Below are a few photos

A few more items of interest

Here are a few photos of items on the show and tell table.

Thank you to those of you who share your work, the items are always so beautiful.

The AGWSD have a very interesting website that you might like to look at,

www.wsd.org.uk

It gives details of various exhibitions etc that you might like to visit, or enter.

We will be adding more books to the library in the coming months, some donated (thanks to those who donated them) and some new purchases. If you have any suggestions for new books please give them to Cristina Fotheringham. Also if you have any of our library books lurking in your cupboards that you have forgotten about please could you return them.

There will not be a sales table or show and tell at the December meeting. Should you not wish to participate in making the Christmas decorations please bring your usual work.

Lastly, thank you all for your buying spree at last month's meeting when Helen Marriage needed to dispose of her craft items. I am sure that you all went away with bargains. Helen sends her thanks.

Best wishes for Christmas and the New Year
From Carole and the committee.
